

Retail park plan is boost for town

Lidl, Pets at Home and Home Bargains among those lined up

JOSH THOMAS
@JoshThomas

A DERELICT plot of land in Haverhill looks set to become a bustling retail park amid renewed hopes of investment for the town.

The long-vacant site, formerly home to the Project Office Furniture factory in Falconer Road, was bought by a Cambridge property developer, the Howard Group, in 2008.

The site has remained vacant since then but it has now been confirmed a retail park is planned for the area. Shops Lidl, Pets at Home and Home Bargains are among those looking to set up on the site.

William Jewson, development director at the Howard Group, said the development could be good news for the town.

"I think people should be excited," he said. "I think it would be fantastic for the town. We have looked at it very carefully and think the more people you can bring in to Haverhill, the better."

"People talk about the stickiness of a town and how it keeps people there. People come in to town for a big shop and will then spend time walking down the High Street to spend money."

A planning application will be made in mid-November. Haverhill councillor John Burns said, in theory, there should not be any major obstacles to the development going ahead.

"It [the land] has already got planning permission as a retail park," he said. "From my perspective, anything that brings investment to the town has to be worthwhile."

"I think it is a good mix of businesses – it may encourage other investors."

Colin Poole, Haverhill's town clerk, welcomed the idea of a retail park on the site.

"I think the fact the site has been empty and not contributing to the economic well-being of the town for so many years means people will be pleased to see something happening there."

"Economic stickiness is a really good way of putting it. We all know we can drive to Cambridge and get whatever we want, but you need to get in the car and it can take up the whole day."

"The more shops and variety in Haverhill, the better. You can do your shop and be home quickly. People can shop and we have got cheap, plentiful car parking in the town centre. I think the principle of this should be welcomed."

"I am sure councillors will have constructive criticisms to make when the time comes, but it is good news for the town. It is another jigsaw piece to complete the picture of Haverhill."

CRIME

Terrifying raid on elderly lady

AN ELDERLY woman was the victim of a terrifying robbery after three men broke into her house near Haverhill.

The incident took place at 7.30pm on Tuesday at a house in Coronation Cottages in Great Wratting. Three men broke into the property by forcing a rear window.

On hearing a noise the victim, thought to be in her 70s, went to the kitchen and was confronted by one of the men who held her down as the other two raided her home.

Inspector Peter Ferrie, the local policing commander for the area, said: "It was all over within a matter of minutes. I am sure it must have been absolutely terrifying."

"It is a very unusual thing to happen in the Haverhill

JOSH THOMAS

area."

The victim sustained a small cut to her lip. It is not known at this stage if anything was stolen and there are not yet any clear descriptions of the suspects. Police are also investigating after three men targeted a house in Campbell Close, Mildenhall at 6.15pm on Tuesday, but cannot yet be sure if the events are linked.

The first man is described as white, around 5ft 2in tall, of large build, with fair hair and blue eyes. He was wearing an olive green baseball cap with a black scarf around his face, a green coat and combat style trousers. The second is described as having a tanned complexion, around 5ft 2in tall, and of slim build. He had a dark scarf around his face and was wearing a similar hat and coat to the first man, with dark-coloured jogging bottoms. The third man is described as white, wearing a baseball cap with a scarf covering his face.

Detective Inspector Andrew Smethurst, from Bury St Edmunds CID, said: "I would urge communities to remain vigilant. Any witnesses are encouraged to call police."

Anyone with information should call 101 quoting HH/15/2612 for the Great Wratting robbery, or MH/15/2084 for the Mildenhall incident, or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

SPORT

Fighter will represent UK despite dad's death

DEDICATED: Marie Kicks, right, will compete at the World Karate Championships true to her father's wishes

A KARATE champion has vowed to compete in the first World Karate Championship despite the death of her father, who first inspired her, the day before she was due to fly out.

Marie Kicks, who teaches at the KMA Shotokan Karate School in Haverhill, is considered one of the best karate practitioners in the UK.

Fresh from taking third place in the English Karate Council's (EKC) British Championship held in Sheffield in May, Marie won the nomination to be part of a team representing the UK at the first ever World Karate Championships in Slovenia.

On Monday, Marie's father, Alec Croucher, died. He was 64. Marie was due to fly to Slovenia on Tuesday.

"He was the one who got me into it," said Marie, who was 7-years-old when she first took up the sport. "He was the one who put up with the early starts and the car trips for training. He told me before he died, 'you are going'."

Despite her father's death, Marie decided to stick to her

JOSH THOMAS

plan to fly to Slovenia with the British team, and will pay tribute to her dad by taking part in the tournament.

Marie arrived in Slovenia on Tuesday for registration. She is due to take part in her first match on Friday.

"I am very nervous," said Marie. "I don't normally feel the nerves, but this is a little bit scary."

Despite a mounting campaign for its inclusion, karate is not yet an Olympic sport. The world championships in Slovenia are, however, being treated as the next best thing, with a huge opening show making a spectacle with fireworks and dancing.

Marie said she was late receiving the nomination because her trainer had been on holiday and was unable to deliver the news until his return.

Even then, she said, she found it hard to believe she would be representing the UK in Slovenia.

Marie has been training hard for the event with her husband and fighting partner, Colin Kicks, who also runs the KMA Shotokan Karate School in Haverhill.

She is keen to bring karate to as many people, particularly young people, in Haverhill as possible and wants people to come to the karate sessions they put on.

"It is a non-profit organisation," she said. "We don't want to charge a lot, just enough to cover our costs. I would like to encourage people to take it [karate] up. A lot of people say they're too old or too fat, but anyone can have a go. There's no excuse."

"A lot of people think it is a violent sport, but it is completely the opposite. You need to be controlled and restrained. That's what we teach the people who come to us."

Currently, the karate group has about 70 members.

The group holds training sessions at the Clements Community Primary School at 7pm on Tuesdays and at the Leiston Community Centre on Thursdays. All are welcome to attend.

Children at the school got involved in packing the boxes of produce themselves and sending the goods off to help others in the town.

DUAL GOAL: More than 40 businesses met with West Suffolk MP Matt Hancock, left, to get the campaign going. Paul Danno and Nikos Savvas lent their support

Campaign gets under way for 'essential' road

A CAMPAIGN to improve the economic prospects of Haverhill, by turning an 'essential' road into a dual carriageway, has been launched.

The A1307 is the major road joining Haverhill to the main UK road network and campaigners claim that the town is possibly the largest in the UK not on a primary route.

A campaign to turn the road into a dual carriageway began on Friday.

"The launch of the campaign is key to the future success of Haverhill and its economy," said Paul Donno, the chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce. "The A1307 from Haverhill to the A11 is a critical piece of infrastructure no longer fit for purpose and as a chamber we are constantly campaigning for it to be a dual carriageway."

More than 40 businesses and local authority leaders came together at the launch of the campaign, which took place at Culina Logistics in Haverhill.

JOSH THOMAS
@JoshThomasCN

"Haverhill is where Suffolk ends and Cambridgeshire starts," said West Suffolk MP Matt Hancock, who was at the event. "These sorts of bureaucratic boundaries get in the way of planning vital links for growing towns and that is why this campaign is so important."

Campaigners want to dual the A1307 and say the result would benefit the whole area both economically and socially.

"The main concern with the A1307 is to ensure reliable journey times," said Nicholas Hodge, head of engineering at Haverhill-based Sanofi. "We need to transport and deliver life-saving medical products. Therefore a safe and fast road to the A11 and across the UK is essential."

Nikos Savvas, principal of West Suffolk College and board director of New Anglia Local Enterprise Partnership, said: "Our modern economy needs and deserves excellent infrastructure, so we can compete on the national and international stages."

"We can already see the benefits that a fully dualled A11 has brought to business and the local economy, now we must do the same for the A1307."

Steve Morris, general manager at Culina in Haverhill added; "Culina would strongly support any proposals for improvements to the road from Haverhill to the national network. The dualling of this road is imperative."

Cllr Betty McLatchy, the mayor of Haverhill, said there could be real benefits in dualling the road.

She said: "I always say, Haverhill is not stuck in the corner like some people think, it is at the gateway of three counties."

Looking to forge partnerships

I WOULD like to address, if I may, the concerns raised by Haverhill Town Council over the review of the Borough Council's area working parties.

This is a review and I welcome the town council's input to my consultation. Of course, it isn't just the Haverhill Area Working Group that is under review – we are also reviewing the future of our Bury and Rural Area Working Parties – but I am confident that we can work with the town council to decide on the best way forward for Haverhill.

In fact, I am heartened by their response as it shows that there is a shared desire to find a democratic mechanism in Haverhill that really works.

The Haverhill, Bury and Rural Area working parties were all set up as it happens at my instigation some years ago and a lot of good work has been achieved through them.

But, their agendas, the resources we have to support them and many other things have changed, and it may now be time to look if there is better way for all councillors to discuss local issues without the need for a traditional "committee" meeting.

This is recognised by Haverhill Town Council itself which has observed that, in recent years, the Haverhill Area Working Party as a mechanism for debate wasn't quite working with 'few requests for a recommendation' and 'mostly verbal updates from officers'.

Let's also be clear, there has never, and will never be any barriers to the town council discussing and considering Haverhill issues with its partners, including the borough. Whatever our political allegiances, I truly believe each of us took public office to do the best that we can for our residents so conversations about crucial issues should take place anyway with or without the prospect of having to wait for a quarterly meeting.

Whatever happens to the Haverhill Area Working Party this isn't the end of locality forums in Haverhill, or our partnership with Haverhill Town Council, and I hope over the coming years we can forge a closer partnership as we all look to bring forward major projects for Haverhill and its surrounding area – not least the realisation of the town centre masterplan.

Looking for volunteers

THE Royal British Legion is once again seeking the support of the public for the annual Poppy Appeal collection which commences on October 24.

In this, the 70th anniversary year of the end of the Second World War, we are ever mindful of the sacrifices made by our Armed Forces and the demands on the Royal British Legion's services are as important now as ever they were.

Your pictures

CREEPY CRAWLEY: Tertia Terry sent us this photo which she took in her mum's garden in Clare last week. The caterpillars were tucking into the leaves on a rose. "I counted over 73 caterpillars in total," she wrote.

■ We love to see your pictures. Send them in JPEG format marked 'Your Pictures' to wendy.davey@cambridge-news.co.uk. Please add your name, address and daytime telephone number, where you took the photo and, if possible, a picture of yourself! We reserve the right to reuse pictures at our discretion.

We in the Cambridge area have especially remembered with great pride and respect the service of the Men of the Cambridgeshire and Suffolk Regiments in the Far East and have recently unveiled a plaque in the Guildhall to honour them.

The Legion is keen to attract new Poppy Appeal volunteers to help with door to door and street collections.

Anyone over 16 years of age can apply to help; they need only to email: volunteersupport@britishlegion.org.uk

Learning life's vital skills

IN a few weeks business and organisations will open their doors to children and young people as part of this year's Takeover Challenge, giving them valuable hands-on experience in a field of work they are interested in.

The initiative, starting on the 20 November 2015, helps them decide which career to pursue in later life and builds their confidence.

More than 44,000 children took part last year – in fact so keen were businesses to run longer placements, this year we've renamed it from Takeover Day to the Takeover Challenge.

Some big names are getting involved this year. Children are taking over parts of the BBC, the NHS and even the Houses of Parliament.

We're keen to increase the number of businesses involved, so would like to appeal directly to your readers.

It's a great way for businesses and organisations to gain a fresh perspective on what they do and for young people get their voices heard and ideas listened to.

It's not just about giving young people work experience but about providing them with a unique experience.

Officers commended for daring flat fire rescues

JOSH THOMAS
@JoshThomasCN

WHEN fire ripped through a block of flats in Haverhill, residents only escaped with their lives thanks to the efforts of brave police officers.

The officers involved in helping people escape the fire in Keeble's Yard in Haverhill have now been recognised for their valiant efforts at the Suffolk Constabulary Awards.

Pc Guy Ainsworth, Pc Adam Nightingale, Pc John Moore and Sgt Vince Williams were attending a separate incident in Haverhill in the early hours of July 25, 2014, when they noticed smoke pouring out of a second floor window.

The smoke quickly turned to flames and, knowing time was of the essence, the officers broke down the building's door and went from flat to flat alerting residents who had been sleeping.

Commenting on the incident, Chief Inspector Kim Warner, Policing Commander for St Edmundsbury & Forest Heath, said: "This could have been a potentially tragic incident which was averted thanks to the quick actions of our officers.

"I commend everyone involved for their bravery in this incident, which is a great example of the different ways in which our officers respond to protect members of the public. I am really proud of each and every one of them."

Inspector Peter Ferrie, the local policing commander for Haverhill, said: "I am really proud of those officers who rush round to help members of the public like that. We have got some really brave officers here in Haverhill who are prepared to put themselves in harm's way.

"They would not have received any specific training to do that, but they placed safety of the public before their own, personal, safety."

The officers, who, with typical modesty, declined to speak to the press, were given the Protection of Life from Fire award at the ceremony which took place on October 7.

Rail bid gets support from town mayor

A CAMPAIGN to bring a railway to Haverhill has the support of the town's mayor.

Rail Haverhill, a campaign group looking to reinstate a rail link between Haverhill and Cambridge, met on Monday to discuss the possibility of bringing the railway back to Haverhill. They hope to include stations in Linton, Granta Park and Babraham.

The town had previously been connected to the rail network, but lost its railway in 1967 when Baron Richard Beeching, then Chairman of British Rail, sought to rationalise rail services.

Cllr McLatchy said: "I support them. To me, any railway will take a lot of vans off the road and make the roads safer. It is definitely worth a try.

"Every day, in the news, there are stories of lorries over turning and injuring people. In France, they have banned all lorries from travelling on the roads on the weekends and it works very well. The roads are safer for families using the roads.

"I also support the A1307 improvements and think a better road will be a boost for the town."

Members of the public looking to find out more about the campaign can visit <http://www.railhaverhill.org.uk/>

Pets in church

A PET service welcomed people's animals into church on the weekend.

On Sunday, pets were invited to come with their owners to St Mary's Church in Haverhill where they were treated to a special service.

Captain Andrew Payne, of St Mary's Church, said: "About 25 people came, most with their pets, some with photos of their animals."

"We had rats and a hamster and cats and dogs. It's about celebrating all of God's creatures."

Though the event, now in its seventh year, was a success, Capt Payne said numbers were dropping off as the years went on.

"I think it is losing its appeal," he said. "In the church, you learn to take the ups with the downs."

Despite this, the event will go ahead as planned next year.

Beware buying a pet on the internet, warns charity

CUTE: Pets can appear healthy in ads, but it always pays to get one from a responsible source to minimise the risk of buying a sick animal

ANIMAL lovers are being urged by a Haverhill charity to be cautious when buying pets online.

Haverhill and Stour Valley Cats Protection is asking people considering buying a cat or kitten through Social Media to think twice and to consider getting one, instead, from a more responsible source.

The charity says it comes across regular cases where buyers end up with sick, semi-feral, or too young kittens after buying online.

They said that, in many cases these kittens haven't received basic medications such as flea and worming treatment or had their first vaccination.

Maria Connolly, Branch Coordinator of Haverhill and Stour Valley Cats Protection, said: "We would really encourage anyone looking to welcome a cat into their home to go to a reputable animal re-homing charity.

"Though there is a tendency to regard cats as independent animals, they are like any other pet and need a loving owner to provide them with shelter, food, warmth and veterinary care.

"However, we seem to be liv-

@JoshThomasCN

ing in a throw away society where some people think nothing of just getting rid of innocent new born kittens and older cats, or who use cats simply as breeding machines to make money, which is an extremely sad state of affairs.

"Cats Protection has introduced an adopt with confidence pledge so that prospective owners can be confident that any cat or kitten adopted from the charity has been examined by a Veterinary Surgeon, blood tested, micro-chipped, vaccinated, treated against fleas and worms, neutered if old enough, and will also come with four weeks' free insurance."

Haverhill and Stour Valley Cats Protection is currently running a free neutering campaign which will be coming to an end shortly.

Members of the public with animals that needs neutering or who are interested in re-homing cats or kitten, should contact the branch on (01440) 535131 or email on contactcats1@gmail.com.

Town remembers its heroes

In the run-up to Remembrance Sunday, the Haverhill News will be publishing a series of articles delving into the town's war-time history and exploring the lives of some of the people who sacrificed so much.

Here, Charmian Thompson of the local history group, looks at the sad love stories behind a group of WW2 pilots

PRIOR to the war, the heavy bombers of 9 Squadron RAF were based at Stradishall before moving to Honington in August 1939.

Three men serving with this squadron are commemorated on the Haverhill War Memorial and all three, Sergeant Tom English, Corporal Reginald Black and Leading Aircraftman Ralph Lamb met their wives in Haverhill.

This is their story.

Tom English was born in Gateshead in 1917 and named after his father, a colliery official who had been gassed during WW1.

Tom joined the RAF before the war and while stationed at Stradishall he met school teacher Doris Ellen Bigmore of number 9, The Pightle. They were married at Bury St Edmunds Registry Office on November 5, 1939, but Tom had to return to base straight after the ceremony so they planned their honeymoon for Christmas.

Reginald Black was born in 1919, the elder son of Arthur Black and his wife Dorothy. Reg also joined the RAF before the war and while stationed at Stradishall he met his future wife. On September 23, 1939, Reg married Doris Freeman of 8 The Pightle in the West End Congregational Church.

Ralph Lamb was born in January 1913 in Newcastle on Tyne. When he was 16, Ralph was one of the 'Home' boys sent to Canada where he worked on a farm.

In November 1936 he returned home, eventually joining the RAF. While stationed locally with 9 Squadron he met Kate Parker of Hamlet Road. They were married in the Old Independent Church on October 21, 1939.

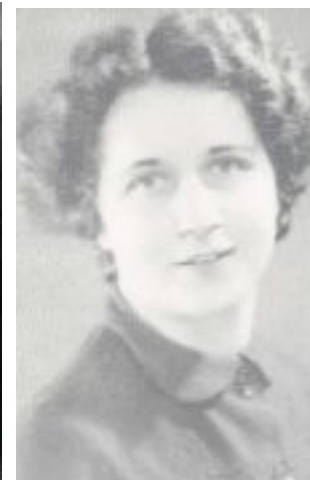

On December 18, 1939: Just days before his honeymoon Tom, along with Reg, took part in an attack on Wilhelmshaven. The Squadron lost five aircraft, two with Tom and Reg on board crashed into the sea with no survivors.

Following the German invasion of Norway, the Squadron moved to Lossiemouth, Scotland.

On April 12, 1940, 83 aircraft, including nine Wellingtons from 9 Squadron, attacked enemy battlecruisers off Norway. They were met by heavy flak and intercepted by Luftwaffe fighters. The aircraft with Ralph on board didn't make it back and is believed to have crashed into the sea off Stavanger. Ralph never got to meet his only son who was born five months later.

Both Doris Black and Doris

English lost brothers later in the war. Lt John Bigmore, 1st Cambridgeshire Regiment, was killed by a sniper during the battle for Singapore in February 1942 and Sgt Phil Freeman, RAF, was captured following the Fall of Singapore dying as a POW in the notorious Sandakan Camp, Borneo.

Ol' Blue Eyes

ALTHOUGH the legend himself is no longer with us, fans of Ol' Blue Eyes can find some solace in the fact that a tribute show featuring nearly as much swing, swagger and super-suave singing as the man himself is coming to town.

Frankly Sinatra features Stephen Triffitt, a master of the craft of Sinatra simulation, who has won acclaim from the likes of Variety, The Hollywood Reporter and The Guardian for his take on classic hits like Fly Me To The Moon, Mack The Knife, New York, New York and – of course – My Way. Now celebrating what would have been Sinatra's centenary, the master may be gone, but his music and style can live on with this velvet-smooth tribute act. HIS way.

■ Frankly Sinatra, Cambridge Corn Exchange, Saturday, October 17, 7.30pm. Tickets £17-£26 from cambridgelivetrust.co.uk/tickets/ (01223) 357851.

A first as Skoda introduces 4x4 option for the Octavia vRS

SKODA is continuing the expansion of its sporting flagship Octavia vRS line-up with a specification boost and the introduction of a new 4x4 transmission option. Following hot in the tracks of the new vRS 230, the fastest production SKODA Octavia ever, the updated range hits showrooms later this year. Prices for the Octavia vRS 4x4 start from £27,315 (£28,515 for the Estate).

Offered with the 2.0 TDI 184PS diesel engine, the vRS' four-wheel drive system is coupled to a six-speed direct-shift gearbox (DSG) as standard. The Octavia's 4x4 system constantly monitors traction at each wheel and can direct power to whichever axle requires it.

The Octavia vRS 4x4 models can sprint from zero to 62mph in 7.6 seconds and have a broad and flexible mid-range – made possible by the engine's high torque output of 380Nm, available between 1,750-3,250rpm.

From next month, prices for the Octavia vRS range start from £24,230 for the Hatch and £25,430 for the Estate, an increase of £400: however, buyers will get the Amundsen satellite navigation system as standard (previously £755).

With a capacitive touchscreen display and SD card slot, this feature-packed unit joins a specification list that already includes 18-inch Gemini anthracite alloy wheels, bi-xenon headlights, sports suspension and dual-zone climate control with humidity sensor.

More than 30,000 Octavia vRS models have been sold in the UK since its introduction in 2001.

Engineering highlights in the vRS range include multi-link suspension and electronic differential lock XDS+ for dynamic cornering, progressive steering and numerous assistance systems for enhanced safety and comfort. The vRS also features a striking design package that includes unique vRS bumpers, spoiler and interior.

M4 GTS is the fastest BMW on sale to date

WINNER: Jaguar XJ long wheel base

Jaguars scoop luxury and exec 'used' titles

THE Jaguar XF and XJ have beaten formidable competition to be named Best Used Executive Car and Best Used Luxury Car at the Auto Express Used Car Awards 2015. Both cars continue to win awards years after they first went on sale, praised by Auto Express for their quality, style and luxury.

In the Used Executive Car category, the XF beat the BMW 5 Series to take the win as Auto Express said: "With air vents that rotate out of the dash and a gear selector that rises from the centre console, the XF feels special from the moment you climb inside. The cabin proves that this big saloon boasts plenty of style, but it's not short of substance, either."

In the Used Luxury Car category, the Jaguar XJ took the top spot, beating the Bentley Continental Flying Spur.

ULTRA-desirable, lightweight performance models have always been part of the BMW philosophy. These limited-edition M-badged cars always deliver the ultimate in sports-oriented design, power with efficiency and precise driving dynamics. Today, that family lineage welcomes its latest member – the all-new BMW M4 GTS.

Quite simply, it is the fastest production road car the brand has ever offered to customers. Developed and tested extensively at the Nürburgring Nordschleife, it has recorded a lap time of 7mins 28 secs – almost 30 seconds quicker than a standard M4.

Unique exterior design elements demonstrate the performance credentials of the car, and include the world premiere of BMW's Organic Light with LED (OLED) lighting technology on a series-production model. Inside, the rear bench has been completely removed to save weight, leaving two carbon-fibre sports seats.

Under the bonnet is an enhanced version of the 3.0-litre six-cylinder twin-turbo petrol engine, tuned to deliver 500bhp. The result is a car which accelerates from zero to 62mph in only 3.8 seconds, and has a top speed limited to 190mph.

With its intelligent lightweight design, the new BMW M4 GTS has a kerb weight of only 1,510kg. It has been engineered to provide a truly authentic motorsport-derived driving experience, agile and potent in every way. With precision handling and unprecedented levels of feedback, it is focused on track use, but meets all global regulations for use on public roads.

The car's one-year production run will see just 700 examples built worldwide, with UK sales of 30 units. That equates to four per cent of the total, making Britain the fourth-largest market.

The M4 GTS will make its world debut at the Tokyo Motor Show on October 28. Production will begin in March with launch scheduled for June. The UK price is £121,770.

Caterham's first MPG Marathon

THE CATERHAM SEVEN 160: Mpg test

UNIQUE British sports car maker Caterham has competed for the first time in an event not normally associated with its high-octane cars – the MPG Marathon.

The firm submitted its entry-level car, the Seven 160, to the competition in the hands of motor journalist John Mahoney, who achieved an average of 59.03mpg in the strictly-controlled test.

The figure beat the official combined average by almost 1.5mpg, or 2.5 per cent. All participants had to cover a roughly 370-mile real-world route over two days, but could vary their approach as long as they passed certain checkpoints.

Powered by a mere 660cc turbocharged Suzuki engine, the 160 is Caterham's most affordable car, but still hits 62mph from rest in just 6.5 seconds. Buyers can pay £18,995 for a fully-built version or £15,995 if they want to build it themselves.

Diesel saga is boost for electric and hybrid cars

A NEW survey says that 53 per cent of drivers planning to buy or lease a new car in the next two years are considering an electric or hybrid vehicle.

The survey, conducted for the Institute of the Motor Industry (IMI), the professional body for the retail motor sector worth £152 million a year, shows dramatic growth in demand for alternative fuelled vehicles from the two per cent of overall of car sales in 2014.

Manufacturers concerned by the recent diesel emissions turmoil will welcome the potential demand for AVs, demonstrated in the survey of 2,000 car owners carried at the end of last week. However, the IMI is raising concerns about skill shortages and lack government regulation covering electric and hybrid vehicle maintenance and repair.

IMI awards 96 per cent of automotive qualifications and can report that 1,000 technicians are currently qualified to Level 3 in electric vehicle and hybrid maintenance. Another 1,000 are currently taking the three-year course. With around 170,000 technicians working in the industry and less than two per cent properly qualified to work on these cars, a surge in demand for electric vehicles will lead to difficulties for owners and businesses.

IMI is concerned that a future dearth of specialist EV skills will lead to unqualified staff attempting to work on these vehicles with potentially fatal consequences.

IMI is calling on the government to address the skills shortage with a proactive apprentice recruitment programme to help industry to bridge the skills gap. It also wants the Department for Transport to introduce a license to practice for technicians working on electric and hybrid vehicles in similar way it regulates vehicle air conditioning maintenance and repair to protect the driving public.

IMI's CEO Steve Nash said: "We have always expected demand for electric and hybrid vehicles to increase gradually over time as the cars become more sophisticated and the public become aware of their quality. The level of demand shown in this survey is astonishing and requires a response from Government."

"We need a license to practice for technicians to reassure the public and to protect the employers who invest in the skills required to take care of the next generation of vehicles and their owners. We will be seeking and urgent meeting with ministers as a matter of urgency."

Five-star safety ticket for new Tucson

HYUNDAI'S new compact SUV, the All-New Tucson, received the maximum five-star safety rating from independent vehicle assessment organisation, Euro-NCAP. The result underlines the benefits of Hyundai's approach to democratise technology and safety features across its vehicle range.

Thomas Schmid, chief operating officer of Hyundai Motor Europe, commented: "The all-new Tucson introduces a wide array of new safety technologies, such as Autonomous Emergency Braking, at an accessible price. The five-star rating from Euro-NCAP is further evidence that quality and safety are built into our new cars."

The Euro-NCAP test findings demonstrate that the all-new Tucson is one of the safest and most comprehensively equipped vehicles in its segment.

PLEASE HELP FIND HIM
Went missing on Tuesday 23 June.
He is a Grey Brown Tabby.

Although the photo shows a collar he wasn't wearing a collar when he went missing.

He is a much loved member of the family, greatly missed and I am still searching for him.

I would appreciate any information as I am desperate to know what has happened to him.

If something bad has happened, please, I just need to know.

Peck blows the field away in medal triumph

Golf

DAVID Peck stormed to victory with a nett 61 round in Haverhill men's midweek medal.

Peck won Division Two and finished seven shots clear of the rest of the field, with Chris Mellings second in the division and Peter Amies third on 69.

Eamonn Bareham won Division One on countback from Bob Spittle after they both scored 68 and John Kennedy took third on countback on 74.

John Vale topped Division Three with 72, two shots ahead of Keith McCallum. Graham Hepworth was third on countback after scoring 76.

Mary Sail won the ladies' midweek medal with 78.

Linda Alexander was second on 81 and Sally Price third on 89.

The Saturday medal was won by Lyn Fish on 73, edging out lady captain Sheila Price by one. Elaine Ward took third with 76.

Ewan Groves won the junior medal with 31 points

and Matthew Russell was second on 22.

Colin, Jenni and Ben Bradnam joined forces with Kevin Ellam to win the Captains' Special Event Texas scramble.

The Bradnams and Ellam amassed 55.8 points in the team competition, which was played off one-tenth of combined handicaps with a shotgun start.

Club captain Rob Viney, Chris Shipp, Dave Pipe and Dan Wilkins took second with 57.7.

Val Shipp, Joe Stokes,

Gill Richardson and Pat Wellstead won the ladies' competition, and the mixed prize went to Steve Nichols, Leah Letcher, Doreen Darbey and Paul Borowy.

Kemp completes revenge mission

TYLER Kemp sealed a 3-1 win for Haverhill Rovers as they got revenge over Stanway in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Rovers, who lost 6-1 when the teams met earlier in the season, were 2-0 up at half time as Marcus Hunt headed in and Perry Moody converted a penalty.

Stanway pulled a goal back with 11 minutes left, but they then had a man sent off and Kemp wrapped up the points for Rovers in added time.

Rovers followed it up with a 2-1 defeat to Newmarket in the Thur-

Football

low Nunn League Cup, despite Ryan Weaver giving them the lead.

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough triumphed 3-2 at Stowmarket.

Borough took a 12th-minute lead when Matt Staines cut in from the left and fired past the goalkeeper.

Harry Halls blasted in moments later and Staines netted again after the interval, before two goals in the last 15 minutes gave Borough a bit of a scare.

There was disappointment for Haverhill Rovers A in the Suffolk Primary Cup as they lost 5-0 to Cavendish.

Risheet Lal aggravated an old ankle injury in the warm-up so outfield player Jordan Day had to play in goal.

It was a good week for Haverhill Rovers under-21s as Rory Jebb's four-goal salvo and a strike from Luke Haines earned them a 5-1 victory over Bishop's Stortford, with that result following a 1-0 win over Potters Bar in which Sam Holmes notched the only goal.

Hockey

Sizzling Sisson is too hot for South

NICOLE Sisson grabbed a hat-trick as Haverhill II secured a convincing 7-0 success over Cambridge South III in East Women's League, Division 4NW(S).

Kim Thomas and Holly McGerty added a couple of goals apiece to the tally for the visitors, who are top of the league with a 100 per cent record and are yet to concede a goal.

There was bad news for Haverhill's first team, however, as they suffered a 4-1 loss at the hands of Cambridge University III in 3NW.

Cara Ainsworth claimed a consolation goal.

Youth football

Hamer hits double

AARON Hamer bagged a brace and Billy Hunt got one for Aztecs White as they edged out Stotfold Ambers 3-2 in Cambridge & District Colts League 12 United.
